ALEX G. SPANOS
Chairman of Board/President

Alex Spanos is a Charger, in more ways than one.

Whether it is overseeing his vast interests in the apartment construction industry or charting the day-to-day direction of the San Diego Chargers, Spanos is always on the move, always forging ahead—a man whose enthusiasm and drive have helped him create one of America's true success stories.

Spanos, who purchased majority interest in the Chargers Aug. 1, 1984, was one of eighty Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Centennial Commission in 1986. In a special ceremony held on Ellis Island, the honorees were cited for being "outstanding American citizens who have distinguished themselves in their respective fields of endeavor, while preserving the values of their particular heritages." Spanos, born in Stockton, California, is the son of Greek immigrants.

Spanos has tackled the rebuilding of the Chargers with dedication and with one goal in mind, to build a winning team. What had become an old team in transition has become a young team with a future of prominence in the National Football League. Spanos most recently solidified his organization when he appointed Steve Ortmayer director of football operations January 27, 1987, after selecting Al Saunders as the Chargers' seventh head coach on October 29, 1986.

In 1987 and for the second year in a row, the Chargers made an aggressive move on the morning of the draft. They traded their first two draft choices (Nos. 5 and 32) to Cleveland for the Browns' first two picks (Nos. 24 and 53) and Pro Bowl linebacker Chip Banks. The Chargers then made tight end Rod Bernstine of Texas A&M, one of the draft's top players, their first-round choice with the Cleveland selection.

In 1986, Spanos traded the Chargers' fourteenth selection in the first round and forty-fourth selection in the second round for Minnesota's eighth choice in the first round and sixty-sixth in the third round, then drafted prize defensive linemen Leslie O'Neal and Terry Unrein with those picks.

Spanos has made similar commitments to the San Diego community. He donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Children's Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. In 1985, he was chairman of San Diego Children's Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon. In 1987 Spanos served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and also was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County.

Alex G. Spanos is chairman of the board of the A.G. Spanos Construction company. Since formation of the company in 1960, more than 55,000 apartment units have been built across the United States involving more than 2.7 million square feet of commercial property.

In spite of his demanding business schedule and real estate interests, Spanos has maintained a lifelong interest in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of Pacific, and in recent years he has distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. In 1977, he was a member of the winning team at the Bob Hope Desert Pro-Am Classic at Palm Desert and in 1980 was selected to represent the United States in the British Amateur Golf Championship, thus becoming the first person to ever win both tournaments.

Over the last two decades, Spanos also has contributed to sports. In 1981, the Alex G. Spanos Center was dedicated at the University of the Pacific. Recognized as the outstanding structure of its kind in Central California, the Spanos Center is used by both the university and the city-wide Stockton community for a variety of functions and activities.

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific, a Trustee at the Eisenhower Medical Center, and Trustee at the Children's Hospital in San Francisco.

Alexander Gus Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, where he began working at age 8 in his father's restaurant, often rising at 2 a.m. to help prepare pastries before attending school.

Alex and his lovely wife Faye have four children, Dean, Dea, Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael. Alex and Faye have six grandchildren and maintain residences in Tarpon Springs, Fla., and Palm Springs, California.

Other Chargers partners include Jack Foreman, Bill Fox, Ernest Hahn, former majority owner Barron Hilton, George Pernicano, Robert Reiss, and the estate of Willametta K. Day.

DEAN SPANOS

Vice Chairman

Dean Spanos is Alex Spanos' eldest son and closest advisor in matters relating to the San Diego Chargers and A.G. Spanos companies.

He represents the San Diego Chargers and his father at all league meetings and helps in administering all business-related matters for the Chargers.

He is President of A.G. Spanos Enterprises, A.G. Spanos Construction, A.G. Spanos Development, A.G.S. Financial and all other A.G. Spanos held companies.

Dean is responsible for all operations nationwide for the A.G.S. development and financial companies.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California, May 26, 1950. He holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of the Pacific and has been a Regent of the University since October, 1982.

Dean is an accomplished golfer, having teamed with Hubert Green to win the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, California in 1985. He also won the most-valuable amateur trophy for being the amateur player who most helped his professional partner.

Dean is married to the former Susan Lucas. They reside in La Jolla with their two sons, Alexander (July 2, 1977) and John (Nov. 7, 1979).

STEVE ORTMAYER

Director of Football Operations

13th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Ortmayer took over the reins of the Chargers' football program Jan. 27, 1987, when he was named Director of Football Operations. In his first major undertaking with the Chargers, Ortmayer made "all the right moves" with clever draft day maneuvering to obtain four-time Pro Bowl linebacker Chip Banks in a trade with Cleveland and "chose the best in the NFL draft" among the 28 NFL teams, according to some of football's leading experts.

"The teams that chose the best in the NFL draft were, in order, San Diego, Buffalo, San Francisco . . .," said Paul Zimmerman of Sports Illustrated. "San Diego came up with the draft's best tight end in Rod Bernstine, a terrific cover guy in cornerback Louis Brock, and a dedicated pass rusher in defensive end Karl Wilson. But (Chip) Banks makes the act complete."

Gordon Forbes of USA Today said, "The San Diego Chargers took another significant step forward in owner Alex Spanos' rebuilding plan by making all the right moves (in the NFL draft)."

The 43-year-old executive came to the Chargers from their AFC West rival, the Los Angeles Raiders, where he served as director of football operations since 1978 and special teams coach since 1979. During his nine seasons in Oakland and Los Angeles, Ortmayer and the Raiders participated in playoff action five times while taking home two Super Bowl rings (following the 1980 and 1983 seasons).

Ortmayer is a veteran of 12 NFL seasons, beginning in 1975 with the Kansas City Chiefs. He served as special teams coach for the Chiefs until joining the Raiders in 1978. It was with the Chiefs under head coach Paul Wiggin that Ortmayer became involved in pro personnel, an area in which his responsibilities expanded when he joined the Raiders.

The first assignment of his nine-year collegiate coaching career was in 1967 as a graduate assistant at the University of Colorado. He became offensive line coach in 1968 and was an offensive and defensive assistant until he became the offensive line coach at Georgia Tech in 1974.

Conrad Stephen Ortmayer was born Feb. 13, 1944, in the Cleveland suburb of Painesville, Ohio. He attended Highland Park High in Dallas, Texas, where his father was a professor of theology and the arts at Southern Methodist University. Ortmayer played one season as a center at Vanderbilt University, then transferred to LaVerne College in LaVerne, California, 60 miles east of Los Angeles and played three seasons at center. Steve obtained a degree in English and physical education upon graduation in 1967.

Steve and his wife, Merylee, reside in San Diego with their two sons, Beau (Jan. 22, 1980) and Cody (Sept. 1, 1985).

AL SAUNDERS

Head Coach

5th NFL Season
5th Season with Chargers

Al Saunders became the seventh head coach of the San Diego Chargers' Oct. 29, 1986, and at the same time the youngest head coach in the National Football League at 39.

In 1986, Saunders took over the 1-7 Chargers at the season's midway point, seeing them through one of the toughest transitional periods in club history, and revealed a balanced offense and attacking, dominating defense reflective of Saunders' coaching philosophy.

"Historically, strong defensive teams have always won championships," said Saunders. "The most important thing we have to establish is consistency and dominance on defense."

This philosophy manifested itself in the second half of the season, as the team won 3 of its first 6 games under Saunders. During the eight-week period Weeks 7-14, no defense allowed fewer yards than the Chargers. The Chargers allowed almost a touchdown a game less and just 92.6-yards rushing a game in the second half. A ferocious pass rush produced 38 sacks, up from 24 sacks in the first eight games, and led to a club record 62 sacks, second in the NFL. The team also picked up a league-high 22 fumble recoveries.

Saunders' dedication to detail and hard work were quickly discovered upon his arrival to the Chargers and the National Football League in 1983. He served as receivers coach from 1983-85 and was named assistant head coach following the 1985 season.

His rise in the NFL followed a 13-year collegiate coaching career, beginning as a graduate assistant at the University of Southern California in 1970. He moved to Missouri as receivers coach in 1972 and offensive backfield coach at Utah State, 1973-75. Saunders was assistant head coach and offensive coordinator at the University of California at Berkeley from 1976-81, directing an offense that set 32 national, Pacific 10 Conference, and school records. He served at the University of Tennessee in 1982 as offensive coordinator and quarterback coach before joining the Chargers.

Alan Keith Saunders was born Feb. 1, 1947, in London, England, making him only the third foreign-born head coach in NFL history. His family moved to Ontario, Canada, when he was 5 and to San Diego when he was 10. Saunders was 13 when he became a naturalized United States citizen in 1960 in San Francisco, where he attended St. Ignatius High. He enrolled at San Jose State as a freshman in 1965 and played five seasons of football, starting at defensive back for four seasons and serving as team captain during his senior season. He was graduated with academic honors and with a degree in physical education in 1969 and obtained his master's degree in education from Stanford University in 1970, before enrolling at the University of Southern California, where he is completing his doctorate in athletic administration and sports management.

Saunders was a prep all-America swimmer in high school and set national Amateur Athletic Union age-group records. At San Jose State he was named to the Academic all-America football team in 1967 and was a Dean's List scholar. Saunders also was selected to appear in the 1969 edition of Outstanding College Athletes of America. Saunders recently was inducted into San Jose State's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Saunders' dedication and enthusiasm have carried over to his work in the San Diego community for local charities and organizations such as Children's Hospital, Logan Heights Family Center, Boy Scouts of America, San Diego City Schools, and the American Cancer Society. In addition Saunders serves on the board of directors for the San Diego Easter Seals Society and has been appointed to California State Legislature's Ad-Hoc Committee on Licensed and Designated Sports.

Saunders is married to the former Karen Mize of Palos Verdes, California. They reside in San Diego's Scripps Ranch with their two sons, Bobby (Nov. 28, 1976) and Joey (March 21, 1979), and daughter Korrin (June 18, 1981).

INSTANT REPLAY APPROVED FOR 1987

For the second year in a row, NFL clubs have approved a limited system of Instant Replay on a one-year basis.

The system basically stays the same as in 1986 with the exception that larger monitors will be used by Replay Officials. In 1986, there were 374 plays closely reviewed (defined as a contact to the field, but not necessarily stoppage of play). There were 38 reversals for an average of one reversal in each six games. There were three other rulings (clarification of rules) by Replay Officials.

In 1986, the system was approved by a 23-4 vote. In 1987, the vote was 21-7.

The NFL has discussed Instant Replay in some degree or other since the early 1970s. The League experimented in 1976 and 1978 using two basic frameworks—an independent system using cameras, replay machines, and technicians separate from the network covering the game, and a "no frills" approach using existing television coverage.

In 1985, the NFL used the network feed of nine nationally televised preseason games to experiment with the basic system that later was adopted for 1986 and 1987. A total of 28 plays were examined closely in 1985 (17 confirmed call, 4 were inconclusive, 1 was reversed, and 6 had no replay shown).

What is the objective of this system?

The clubs feel that on certain plays the telecast viewed by the general public should be used to correct an indisputable error. The system will be used to reverse an on-field decision only when the Replay Official has indisputable visual evidence available to him that warrants the change.

Is the television network carrying the game part of the review process?

No. Although the Replay Official will be viewing the live network feed, there is no communication to television personnel as to what plays to show or not to show.

What is the step-by-step procedure of play review?

The Replay Official will view game action and a play will be replayed immediately on one of the two monitors, while the other monitor continues to record the live feed.

The Replay Official makes a determination if further study of the play is needed. If not, there is no contact with the field and play continues without interruption.

If the Replay Official believes an error may have been made, the Umpire will be contacted via a headset.

The Replay Official will watch replay(s) on one or both monitors and complete his review within a reasonable period after the play is over.

The Replay Official will inform the Umpire of his decision, and the Referee will make the appropriate announcement on the wireless microphone.

The limited Instant Replay system concentrates on plays of possession or touching (e.g., fumbles, receptions, interceptions, muffs) and most plays governed by the sidelines, goal lines, end lines, and line of scrimmage (e.g., receiver or runner in or out of bounds, forward or backward passes, breaking the plane of the goal line).

However, the Instant Replay system will not include the following fouls: clipping; encroachment and offsides; grasp of facemask; false start; defensive pass interference; offensive pass interference; offensive holding and illegal use of hands; illegal batting or punching ball; illegal motion; illegal use of forearm or elbow; illegal use of hands by defense; illegally kicking the ball; illegally snapping the ball; intentional grounding; member of the punting team downfield early; illegal formation; palpably unfair act; piling on; roughing the passer; running into or roughing the kicker; striking, kicking, or kneeing; unnecessary roughness; unsportsmanlike conduct; and use of the helmet as a weapon.

Tackle Jim Lachey

Miller Lite NFL Lineman of the Year Award "Supporting the Working Class"

The NFL "Lineman of the Year" award, sponsored by Miller Lite, has been created to honor those athletes who seldom gain the recognition they deserve . . . the giants of pro football . . . the offensive and defensive linemen. They toil in the trenches in near obscurity, battling each other often for mere inches when the "stars" of the game perform their magic.

During the month of November, you will have an opportunity to show your support for the "working class" of pro football. Each of the 28 NFL teams has nominated two of its top big men, one offensive lineman and one defensive lineman, for the prestigious award. The Chargers' nominees are tackle Jim Lachey, the Chargers' 1986 Lineman of the Year, and defensive end Lee Williams, who finished second in the AFC in 1986 with 15 sacks. You can cast your vote through the month of November, including a special Ballot Box Day at the Stadium Nov. 1 when the Chargers host Cleveland. The top vote-getter from both offense and defense will receive $25,000 from Miller to be donated to the charity of the player's choice. The winners will be announced during the playoffs.
